

Neurology

Victoria & Nanaimo – Vancouver Island, BC

The Division of Neurology at Island Health has opportunities for neurologists to join their teams in both Victoria and Nanaimo on Vancouver Island, BC.

Nanaimo

Two neurology opportunities are available in Nanaimo, one with a focus on neuromuscular medicine and the other a general neurology position with a subspecialty preferred.

The successful candidates will have Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada certification as well as be eligible for full licensure with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of BC.

Nanaimo Regional General Hospital (315 acute care beds) is our regional referral hospital providing services to an immediate population of 125,000 and a secondary referral population of over 350,000. Hospital based services include stroke clinic, EEG, EMG, a rehabilitation inpatient unit, CT and MRI.

Lifestyle & Community

Nanaimo, population 90,000, is a growing, vibrant, and family-oriented community. As the second largest city on Vancouver Island, Nanaimo offers a wide array of cultural and education opportunities as well as plenty of shopping and dining experiences.

Highlights

- Affordable housing—Median home price for 2017 was $489,000
- Easy accessibility to Vancouver by ferry, plane, or float plane
- Public and private primary and secondary school options, as well as the Vancouver Island University

Victoria

Three neurology opportunities are available in Victoria. The division is looking to add team players with interests in movement disorders, stroke, headache and epilepsy. However, skilled general neurologists comfortable with acute neurologic care would be welcome applicants.

The successful candidates will be eligible for Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada certification as well as be eligible for licensure with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of BC.

Victoria offers a balance of community neurology, tertiary referral neurology and academic neurology due to its affiliation with the Island Medical Program and Vancouver Island Research Centre. Our clinicians are given flexibility to build their practices to find their ideal balance of hospital clinic based practice versus community based private practice.

Lifestyle & Community

Victoria, Vancouver Island's largest city (350,000 population), offers a wide variety of educational, cultural, and world-class recreational opportunities.

Highlights

- Easy accessibility to Vancouver by ferry, plane, or float plane
- Public and private primary and secondary school options, as well as the University of Victoria

Island Health is affiliated with the UBC Faculty of Medicine and participation in teaching residents (internal medicine and neurology) as well as UBC Island Medical Program medical students is required. Academic appointments through UBC are available. Members of the Division of Neurology are actively engaged in research, which is supported by the Island Health Research and Capacity Building Department.

Vancouver Island, located offshore from the City of Vancouver on the BC mainland, is renowned for its breathtaking natural beauty and enviable quality of life. Vancouver Island boasts the mildest climate in Canada allowing for year round golf, hiking, cycling, and sailing. Family friendly communities, affordable housing and strong public and private schools make Vancouver Island a perfect place to raise a family. With its diversity of landscapes, rich heritage, and vibrant cultural scene this is an ideal place to pursue your medical career and create the kind of lifestyle only dreamt about.

Discover Vancouver Island...with unlimited possibilities for your career, family and future!
